- PX : Weak outlook due to supply increase when new PX plant in Shenghong, China starts operation
- BZ : Expected to remain flat on reduced SM operation and recovery of US BZ demand
- PE/PP : Weakness expected to continue as there is downward pressure due to seasonality and year-end inventory reduction
- For lube base oil, the supply is expected to decrease in the winter due to the concentration of diesel production by oil refiners, so the trend is expected to remain strong.
